Dr. Nicholas Okoye Speaks

...on Strategic Business Development, National Development,
Entrepreneurship, Global Strategy and Leadership

Entrepreneurship ▶

As a serial entrepreneur himself, Nicholas has been responsible for building large scale businesses as well as niche operations in different fields of a commercial enterprise including technology, telecommunications, education, energy, hospitality and broadcasting. Nicholas Okoye's entrepreneurship ventures have included building the multibillion dollar Transcorp Plc in which he led the fund raising which raised over $1 billion in nine months. He led his team to undertake several billion dollar acquisitions including Transcorp Hilton Abuja, NITEL, two petroleum refineries and two oil swamp water blocks in the Niger Delta, he was also the first Nigerian to own and manufacture mobile phones under the Anabel brand. His Anabel Group also supports the training and development of thousands of Executives, Entrepreneurs and Small Business Men and Women across Africa.

He leads the largest network of Entrepreneurs in Nigeria (EMPOWER NIGERIA) and he founded the Startup Nigeria Consortium, workshop series and entrepreneurship support scheme which continues to support thousands of entrepreneurs in various industries from conception to implementation, from start-up, to growth, to maturity.

Dr. Nicholas Okoye anchors the Local Content Strategic Initiative, and his Anabel Group operates the Nigerian Content Development and Monitoring Boards Project Triple E, which supports large and small-medium enterprises owned by Nigerians to build scale, capacity and to thrive in Nigeria's oil and gas sector.

Global Strategy ▶

Dr. Nicholas Okoye speaks on his proprietary developed system of a two-way global market strategy, on the one-side; he provides strategic insights on the Nigerian market investment climate, cultural affiliations, challenges and opportunities for international investors and international companies operating in Nigeria or wishing to operate in Nigeria. On the other side, he supports Nigerian companies wishing to expand into the global market, identifying countries and markets, identifying opportunities and supporting a partnership with international companies, original equipment manufacturers and other entry strategies required for penetrating global markets.

For Nigerian companies, building a global market strategy, which seeks to penetrate the international market in Africa, the developing world or even advanced markets such as the United States and Europe, Nicholas provides a road map and in many cases working through his, Anabel Group can provide solutions for market penetration across these global markets.

Dr. Nicholas Okoye speaks to international investors and international companies on strategic positioning and starting businesses successfully in Nigeria. His position papers help international oil and gas companies protect their investment, and he provides support to their executives and staff on Nigeria's ethics, codes and customs.
